

Grace Family Let's MAKE NC COUNT! Please complete your Census.

North Carolina needs you to respond to the 2020 Census today!

If you haven't already responded to the Census, time is running out. The 2020 Census has been shortened and now ends on SEPTEMBER 30. Approximately 4 million North Carolinians still need to be counted or we risk losing an estimated $74 billion over the next decade.

Respond TODAY at my2020census.gov or 844-330-2020.

Responding to the Census is safe, easy and important for our state's future.

Census workers will begin going door to door starting August 11. You can avoid their knock on your door by responding now online, by phone, or by mail.

If you've already responded to the 2020 Census, thank you! Here's how you can make sure everyone in North Carolina gets counted:

- Challenge family, friends & neighbors
- Follow @nccensus on Twitter and Facebook

- Post on your social media & websites
- Sign up for the weekly NC Census Digest
- Submit articles to community newsletters
- Post in neighborhood apps or online groups
- Organize a text campaign or phone bank
- Hang fliers in grocery stores and essential sites

Key things to know about the 2020 Census:

- Every NC resident who responds brings back $1,823 per year to our state.
- Census results are used to fund programs that impact schools, roads, emergency services, disaster and pandemic recovery, healthcare, childcare, senior care, food assistance, public transportation, economic development, housing programs and more.
- The 2020 Census also helps North Carolina get accurate representation in Congress, including potential for an additional seat.

AVOID the KNOCK: Census workers begin door-to-door counting on August 11.
